

Little Bicks Curriculum

The vast majority of our families are from a Jewish background. However, within this there is a huge range of religiosity which we respect and celebrate. Most of our children transition to local Jewish schools with a handful moving to the private sector. The majority of our children come from stable backgrounds and have had positive life experiences before joining us.

At Little Bicks we create a strong Jewish identity.

- Prepare our children for their next steps – Jewish School
- Nurture good home links with cross over of traditions and customs
- Develop a Sense of community
- Focus on the positive values and morals that Judaism teaches
- Celebrate and teach and teaching about the Jewish festivals, culture and traditions.

At Little Bicks we form an exciting curriculum based on the children's interests

- Pay attention to what our children say and do
- Build upon what they already know to develop their learning experience
- Consider gaps in our children's learning and include a wide range of new and exciting experiences to ensure a broad range of education is available for our children instead of them?

At Little Bicks our aspiration is for children to achieve age-appropriate emotional wellness, independence and self-care routines

- Include circle time sessions in our weekly planning to demonstrate positive role models
- Create a safe environment where children are encouraged to take risks to develop their resilience, express themselves through a variety of means of communication and recognise and understand their emotions as well as providing our children with tools to help them manage these
- Encourage good self-hygiene routines
- Build positive relationships between adults and our children

At Little Bicks we create a truly exciting environment that motivates and inspires our children to play

- Bring joy to our children every day
- Consider the resources and activities that we use and set-up at all times
- Inspire our teachers to be excited to be on the journey with our children

At Little Bicks we encourage healthy lifestyles for our children and families

- Offer healthy food choices throughout the day
- Promote an Active lifestyle
- Encourage an understanding how to look after our bodies including oral health
